: P K Sreemathy, MP, today inaugurated a project in this district of Kerala to provide girl friendly electronic toilets in selected 26 Government schools. The electronic toilets are equipped with napkin vending machines and napkin destroyers to ensure clean, safe and hygienic toilet facilities to the girl students. Apart from this, e-toilets for general publi care were also installed at District Panchayat premises here.

The Central government is planning to set up state-of-the art toilet facilities to the students.

E- toilets a modular, prefabricated one, made of steel, integrated with electronic systems to ensure cleanliness and hygiene for every user. eToilet is easy to install and occupies just 25 sq.ft space and can be placed on a metal base.

The interiors of eToilet provides a comfortable ambiance in terms of look, feel and functionality. The project here is being implemented by Metal IndustriesLimited.

Eram Scientific Solutions, the sole manufacturer of electronic toilets in India has provided eToilets and shall be providing further technical support for the project. On reviewing the successful running of the project, the panchayat would take a decision to scale up the project to other schools, said District Panchayat President Sumesh V.UNI AK KVV AK 2035
